

Healthcare help in your language — in seconds, for free.

2.84 million foreigners live in South Korea. When they get sick, they face a hospital system that speaks only Korean, interpreters they cannot afford, and bills they cannot read. K'Helper answers — instantly, in their own language.

2.84M

foreign residents
(5.5% of Korea)

400–600K

uninsured
foreigners

<10%

hospitals with Khmer/
Bengali interpreters

$40–80

per hour for a human interpreter

WHAT K'HELPER DOES

- Ask anything, any language. Claude-powered chat explains bills, insurance (NHIS), visas and rights — clearly and honestly.
- Find & book care. A directory of every clinic (free government open data) with booking, in the user's language.
- Translated pre-intake. The clinic receives the patient's details already in Korean — no front-desk confusion.
- Safety built in. Crisis and scam detection, emergency numbers, visa-expiry reminders.

HOW IT MAKES MONEY

- Freemium. Free core chat; premium reminders and document help.
- Clinics pay for patients. K'Helper delivers foreign customers with zero language friction — a monthly listing fee or per-booking commission.
- B2B. Employers, insurers, hospitals and government reach populations they cannot serve today.
- Near-zero cost to serve. Under $20/yr fixed; a live PWA already shipped.

WHY NOW · THE MOAT

Foreigner-health apps exist (INMEDIC, imdr), but they rely on paid human interpreters and serve insured / medical-tourism patients. Our edge: AI-first (instant, free, any language), whole-life scope beyond healthcare, and community trust — founder-led, starting in the Cambodian community. We serve the uninsured migrant majority they leave behind.

WHERE WE ARE

Live product at khelper.org — installable app, Google & email sign-in, multilingual chat, visa tracker, hospital finder. Now launching to the founder's Cambodian community for first users and feedback, then expanding tier by tier to all foreigners in Korea. North star: 50,000 users and $1M ARR by 2028.

Open to conversations.

If this resonates, I'd love your perspective — advice, intros, or partnership.

RJ · Founder, K'Helper

vrajsok@gmail.com · khelper.org